Opening Prayer

“Dear Lord, when I do something wrong, help me to be honest. Teach me not only to say ‘I’m sorry’ but also to show it with my actions. Amen.”

Lesson Objectives

By the end of today’s lesson, children will:

Understand that repentance means saying sorry and showing it by doing right.

See how Carpie showed repentance by going back to the minnows.

Learn from Zacchaeus that a changed heart leads to changed actions.

Story Exposition

In the story Flying is for the Birds, Carpie and Lashley made a terrible mistake while playing a game with the little minnow. Lashley swallowed the minnow by accident. The two friends were so shocked and afraid. When the other minnows came looking, both Carpie and Lashley lied and pretended they didn’t know anything.

But things didn’t stay the same.<sup>[SEP]</sup>Carpie’s heart felt heavy, and he cried when he got home. He later told his mother the truth. That was the beginning of his healing. Still, he felt in his heart that he needed to do more. He couldn’t just keep quiet—he had to face the minnows and make things right.

So

Carpie went back to the minnows. He admitted what he had done wrong. He didn't hide it anymore. He asked for their forgiveness. This was not easy—saying “I’m sorry” takes courage. But when he confessed, the minnows forgave him, and Carpie’s heart became light again.

That is what repentance looks like. It is more than just words. It is turning away from wrong and making a change. Carpie didn't just feel bad—he went back to fix what he could.

The Bible gives us another example in Zacchaeus (Luke 19:1–10). Zacchaeus was a tax collector who took money unfairly from people. Everyone disliked him. But when Jesus came to his town, Zacchaeus climbed a tree just to see Him. Jesus looked up and said, “Zacchaeus, come down. I must stay at your house today.”

That love changed Zacchaeus' heart! He said, "Lord, I will give half of my money to the poor, and if I have cheated anyone, I will pay them back four times as much."

Do you see? Just like Carpie, Zacchaeus showed his repentance by action. He didn't just say "sorry"—he changed what he was doing wrong.

How We Can Show Repentance

Say "I'm Sorry" Honestly – Repentance starts with truthful words.

Fix What You Can – If you broke someone's toy, help repair it or replace it. If you hurt someone, show kindness to make it right.

Change Your Ways – Decide not to do the wrong thing again.

Conclusion

Repentance is like turning around when you are going the wrong way. Carpie turned around when he went back to the minnows. Zacchaeus turned around when he gave back money and helped the poor.

When we truly repent, our hearts change, our actions change, and God forgives us. Repentance brings freedom, peace, and joy.

Lessons Derived

Repentance is more than words—it is actions that show change.

When we repent, God forgives and gives us peace.

Questions

1. What did Carpie do to show repentance in the story?

2. How did Zacchaeus prove that his heart had changed?
  3. (Reflection) Can you think of a time when you not only said “I’m sorry” but also tried to make things right?
